Maine Interfaith Power & Light Pledge

Maine Interfaith Power & Light pledges to provide _____ (name of community of faith) with resources to encourage their members to become better stewards of Creation by providing the following:

1. Clean electricity from NativeEnergy* -- enough to offset the carbon produced from 3,000 kWh in a congregation - about 4 month's worth of power<sup>1</sup> (with a $50 donation only)
2. Access to discounted energy saving products including an extensive variety of compact fluorescent light bulbs; LED lights (including Christmas lights); toxic free insulation products; EnergyStar rated products; water conservation products (e.g., "low flow" faucet restrictors); thermostats (digital, programmable); and many other items to help you conserve precious resources (with a $50 donation only)
3. Educational resources appropriate for the faith community or household use.
4. Opportunities to gather with other like-minded faith communities and/or individuals.
5. Maine Interfaith Power & Light e-newsletter and other email notifications.

ClimateCare Congregation Pledge

_____ (name of community of faith) herewith pledges to becoming a supporter member of Maine Interfaith Power & Light and support the mission of Maine Interfaith Power & Light by pledging to:

- Designate at least one faith community representative as an active liaison with Maine Interfaith Power & Light; and
- Pledge to "deepen the connection between people of faith and environmental protection by joining together with other communities of faith to address global climate change."

(Note: This is an honorary pledge. By taking this pledge your community of faith's name will be added to a national list of faith based organizations working to address global climate change. This pledge is non-binding and does not obligate your faith community to Maine Interfaith Power & Light in any way.)

- Commit to share effective practices, events and Maine Interfaith Power & Light - related experiences with other MEIPL member faith communities
- Make an annual financial contribution to Maine Interfaith Power & Light of $50 (if you cannot make this contribution then please check the box below)
- We cannot make an annual financial contribution of $50 at this time and we understand that we will not be entitled to receive Native Energy Windbuilders™ clean power credits
